

Even though I live in a major market, the local stations do an extremely poor job of offering musical diversity. It is hard to find something off the playlists. I don't listen to local traffic or weather, because it is an afterthought on these stations.

Reject petition 04-160; XM and Sirius do an excellent job of catering to diverse tastes. They provide competition to the local and national stations and networks.

Larry Reid